Grow That Local

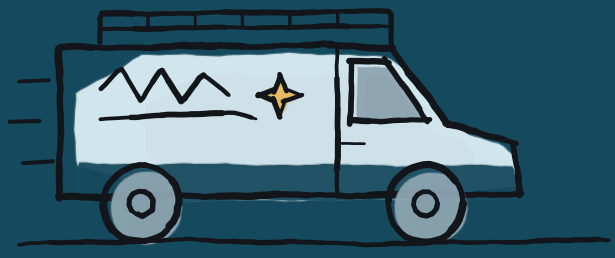

a free guide

12 newsletters a painter can send this year

A year of finished monthly emails for your past customers. Fill in the brackets, add one photo, send.

For painting business owners who can't picture a newsletter.

- 12 short sections in 4 parts
- 36 things you can do in the next 24 hours
- An example in every section
- Sources for every figure

growthatlocal.com · Text us at (423) 924-2014

Contents

Before you start: how this pack works 3

Part 1 Inside season and spring planning 4

1 January: kitchen cabinets 4
2 February: is your exterior paint failing? 5
3 March: your color record 5

Part 2 Exterior season 7

4 April: your deck and fence after winter 7
5 May: painting an older home 7
6 June: the neighbors noticed 8

Part 3 Late summer 10

7 July: kids' rooms before school 10
8 August: a review, if we earned it 10
9 September: last exterior spots before the cold 11

Part 4 The holidays and winter 13

10 October: guest rooms before the holidays 13
11 November: the front door 13
12 December: thank you, and next year's colors 14

Your first 24 hours, in one list 16

Where to go next 17

If you'd rather hand it off 18

Sources 19

GTL estimates 19

Before you start

A year after the job, almost nobody remembers what color their dining room is, or who painted it. When they need a touch-up, another room or the outside of the house, they search for a painter like anyone else. A short email each month keeps your name in front of them, and it lands at the moments the year hands you: exteriors in spring, decks after winter, kids' rooms before school, guest rooms before the holidays and kitchens in the dead of winter.

This pack has 12 emails, one for each month. Each one has a subject line, the preview text (the gray line people see next to the subject in their inbox), the email itself, the photo to add and the one thing it asks for. Copy it into your email tool, fill in the brackets, add the photo, send.

Why email. In Litmus's 2025 State of Email survey, 35% of marketing leaders said they got $10 to $36 back for every $1 spent on email, and another 35% said they got more than that (Litmus, litmus.com). It's a survey of marketers across many industries, so treat it as a sign that email is worth doing, not a promise for your business.

The rules, once. A newsletter that promotes your business is a commercial email, and the federal CAN-SPAM Act covers it, including emails to past customers. Here's what the Federal Trade Commission's CAN-SPAM guide asks of you (FTC, "CAN-SPAM Act: A Compliance Guide for Business", ftc.gov):

- Say who it's from. The From name, the reply-to address and the subject line must be honest. Use your business name.
- Put your mailing address in every email: your street address, or a post office box you've registered with the Postal Service.
- Give people a clear way to unsubscribe, and honor it within 10 business days. You can't charge for it or ask for anything more than their email address.
- Make it clear the email is promoting your business. A newsletter with your logo, your name in the From line and a "book" link does that. Don't dress a sales email up as a personal note or an invoice.
- If someone sends it for you, you're still responsible for it.

The FTC says each email that breaks these rules can cost up to $53,088 (FTC, ftc.gov). The law doesn't require permission before you email, but we'd only email people who've hired you, asked for an estimate or asked to hear from you. Strangers mark you as spam, and that hurts every email after.

The footer. Most email tools add this for you. Check it's there before your first send:
Footer for every email:
"[business] · [street address or registered P.O. box], [town], [state] [ZIP] · [phone]. You're getting this because you hired us or asked to hear from us. Unsubscribe: [unsubscribe link]"

Texting. These are emails. If you send any of them by text instead, the texting rules apply: written consent for marketing texts, say who it's from, and an easy way to opt out. Our free guide Texting Customers Without Breaking the Rules covers it.

The months. This year is for a made-up painter in a place with cold winters. Your two key dates are your first painting week in spring and your last one in fall. NOAA publishes average freeze dates for towns across the US, which is a good place to start (NOAA, last spring freeze, ncei.noaa.gov; NOAA, first fall freeze (ncei.noaa.gov)). In warmer places, the exterior emails can run longer and the inside season is shorter.

The brackets. [first name] is the customer's first name. [your name] is yours. [business] is your business name. [town] is where they live. [phone], [review link] and [booking link] are yours. Anything else in brackets is a detail only you know, such as a date. Anything in brackets that starts with "If" is an offer: keep it only if you make that offer.

Two rules we kept while writing it:

- Every number has a public source you can check, listed at the end. When we didn't have one, we say "GTL estimate" and tell you why we think it.
- Every email is a made-up starting point. Only send what's true for your business.

Part 1

Inside season and spring planning

1 January: kitchen cabinets

When to send it. The second week of January, when exterior work is months away.

- Subject line: A new-looking kitchen, without a remodel
- Preview text: Painted cabinets, done in the slow weeks of winter.

Hi [first name],
It's [your name] from [business]. Winter is our inside season, and the job we get asked about most this time of year is kitchen cabinets.
If your cabinets are solid but tired, painting them is one of the biggest changes you can make to a kitchen without tearing anything out. Dark wood or dated colors go bright and clean, and with new handles the whole room looks different.
Here's how we do it, so you know what to expect. We take the doors and drawer fronts off and paint them in our shop, where it's clean and dust-free. In your kitchen, we clean and prep the cabinet frames, protect the counters, floors and appliances, and paint the frames in place. Then the doors go back on. Most kitchens take [number] days, and you can use your kitchen in the evenings while we work.
Winter is the best time to book, because our calendar has room and we're not racing the weather.
Reply "cabinets" with a photo of your kitchen, and we'll send you a rough price and a few dates.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real before-and-after of a kitchen your team painted, with the same angle in both shots.

The one ask. Reply "cabinets" with a photo of the kitchen.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Export every past customer's email into one list in your email tool.
- [ ] Set up the footer above and send yourself a test email.
- [ ] Fill in how many days a kitchen takes you, and pick your best cabinet before-and-after.

2 February: is your exterior paint failing?

When to send it. About six weeks before your first painting week in spring.

The fact behind it. InterNACHI's life expectancy chart gives exterior paint 7 to 10 years (InterNACHI, nachi.org).

- Subject line: How to tell if your house needs paint, from the ground
- Preview text: Four signs to look for, and our spring dates.

Hi [first name],
Spring painting dates open soon, so here's a quick way to tell whether your house should be on the list this year.
InterNACHI, the home inspectors' association, gives exterior paint 7 to 10 years. The sunny side of the house and anything near the ground usually go first. On your next walk around the house, look for these:
Peeling or flaking paint, especially on trim, window sills and the bottom edges of siding.
Chalky paint. Rub the siding with your hand. If it comes away white or colored, the paint is breaking down.
Cracks in the caulk around windows and doors, where water gets in.
Soft or dark spots in wood trim, which can mean rot under the paint.
If you see two or more, it's worth an estimate now, before the spring rush books the calendar. Paint that's peeling is no longer protecting the wood underneath.
Our spring exterior dates open on [date], and past customers get first pick. Reply "exterior" with a photo of the worst side, and we'll send you a time to come out.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real close-up of peeling trim on a house you later painted, then the same trim afterward.

The one ask. Reply "exterior" with a photo of the worst side of the house.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Count back six weeks from your first usual painting week and schedule the email.
- [ ] Pick the date your spring exterior dates open to past customers.
- [ ] Find a before-and-after of failing trim from your own jobs.

3 March: your color record

When to send it. Early March, before spring jobs begin.

- Subject line: Do you remember what color your living room is?

- Preview text: We do. Here's how to get your color record.

Hi [first name],

A year after a paint job, almost nobody remembers the colors. Then a wall gets scuffed, a kid draws on the hallway or you want to paint the room next to it to match, and you're peeling a chip off the wall to take to the paint store.

We keep a color record for every job we do: the room or area, the brand, the color name, the sheen and the date. If we've painted for you, we have yours.

Reply "colors" and we'll email it to you. Keep that email somewhere safe, or print it and tape it inside a closet door. If you ever sell the house, the next owner will thank you too.

While you're thinking about it: spring is a good time for touch-ups. Furniture gets moved, the light gets stronger and the scuffs from winter show. If you have a few spots that need attention, we can match them to the exact color and sheen and usually fit it into a half-day visit.

Reply "colors," "touch-up" or both.

[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real color record card or note from one of your jobs, with the customer's name hidden.

The one ask. Reply "colors" to get their color record.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Make a color record template on your phone: room, brand, color, sheen, date.
- [ ] Fill one in for every job from the past year that you have notes for.
- [ ] Send each customer theirs when they reply.

Part 2

Exterior season

4 April: your deck and fence after winter

When to send it. Mid-April, once decks have dried out from winter.

The fact behind it. InterNACHI's chart gives wood stains 3 to 8 years (InterNACHI, nachi.org).

- Subject line: Your deck after winter: does it need stain?
- Preview text: The water test takes 30 seconds.

Hi [first name],
Winter is hard on decks and fences. Snow, rain and freezing nights work into the wood, and by spring a lot of them are gray, rough or splintering.
InterNACHI, the home inspectors' association, gives a wood stain 3 to 8 years, and the parts that get the most sun and foot traffic wear first: the deck steps, the top rail and the boards in front of the door.
Here's a quick test. Sprinkle a little water on the deck boards. If it beads up, the stain is still working. If it soaks in and darkens the wood within a minute, the wood is unprotected and it's time.
Other signs: gray, faded wood, stain that's worn away in a path, or boards that feel rough or have started to split.
Our deck and fence work includes cleaning the wood, letting it dry, fixing loose boards and nails we find, and applying stain in the color you choose. It works best in dry, mild weeks, which is why we book them in spring.
Reply "deck" with a photo, and we'll send you a price and the next dry week we have.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real deck your team stained, showing a half-done board with gray on one side and fresh stain on the other.

The one ask. Reply "deck" with a photo.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Set your deck and fence prices by size.
- [ ] Take a half-done photo on your next deck job.
- [ ] Schedule the email for the first dry week of April.

5 May: painting an older home

When to send it. Early May, in the middle of exterior estimate season.

The fact behind it. The EPA's Renovation, Repair and Painting rule covers homes built before 1978. Anyone paid to do work that disturbs painted surfaces in those homes must be certified, and certified firms must use lead-safe work practices (EPA, Lead Renovation, Repair and Painting Program, epa.gov).

- Subject line: Was your house built before 1978?
- Preview text: What that means for painting it, and how we handle it.

Hi [first name],
If your house was built before 1978, there's a good chance some of the older layers of paint contain lead. That doesn't mean anything is wrong today. It matters when paint gets scraped, sanded or cut, because that's when lead dust is made.
Federal rules from the EPA cover this. In homes built before 1978, anyone paid to do work that disturbs painted surfaces has to be certified, and they have to follow lead-safe work practices.
Here's what that looks like on our jobs. [We're an EPA Lead-Safe Certified firm.] We give you the EPA's lead pamphlet before we start. We set up plastic sheeting to contain the dust, use methods that keep dust down, and clean up carefully at the end of every day, not just the last one. Kids, pregnant family members and pets stay away from the work area.
If you're not sure when your house was built, your property tax record usually shows it.
Thinking about painting an older home this year? Reply "older home" and we'll set up an estimate and walk you through it.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real job site with plastic sheeting set up around the work area.

The one ask. Reply "older home" to book an estimate.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Confirm your firm's lead-safe certification is current, and delete that line if you don't hold one.
- [ ] Make sure every crew lead knows the pamphlet and setup rules.
- [ ] Send it to customers in older neighborhoods first.

6 June: the neighbors noticed

When to send it. Mid-June, while exterior jobs are going up around town.

- Subject line: Your neighbors have seen your house
- Preview text: If one of them asked who painted it, this one's worth forwarding.

Hi [first name],
A freshly painted house gets noticed. People slow down when they walk the dog past it, and sooner or later someone asks who did the work.
If a neighbor, friend or family member has been talking about painting, inside or out, we'd be grateful if you sent them our way. Forward this email, or give them our number: [phone].
They'll get what you got: an estimate in writing, a crew that protects floors, furniture and plants, the same people from the first day to the last, and a color record at the end.
[If you offer a thank-you: When someone you send us has their job done, we'll send you [thank-you gift] as our thanks.]
And while you're thinking about it, how is your paint holding up? If anything has chipped, cracked or peeled since we finished, reply and tell us. [Our work comes with a [number]-year warranty on workmanship, and we'll come fix it.]

Thanks for trusting us with your house,
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real house you painted, from the street, on a sunny day, with the owner's permission.

The one ask. Forward this email to a neighbor.

Do it in 24 hours

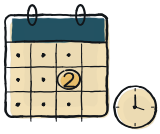

- [ ] Decide whether you'll give a thank-you for referrals, and what.
- [ ] Check what your workmanship warranty actually says, and fill in or delete the line.
- [ ] Send it first to customers whose houses you painted in the past two years.

or we can do it for you

Free sample: Your first newsletter, written

Made from your own job photos. Email newsletter is $50 a month, with a 7-day full refund.

Email newsletter: growthatlocal.com/services/email-newsletter

Part 3

Late summer

7 July: kids' rooms before school

When to send it. Mid-July, about six weeks before school starts.

- Subject line: A new room for a new school year
- Preview text: August dates for kids' rooms are open now.

Hi [first name],
Kids grow out of their rooms faster than they grow out of their shoes. The pastel nursery doesn't fit a ten-year-old, and the bright red walls a twelve-year-old picked don't fit a sixteen-year-old.
Late summer is a good time to change it. The days are long, windows can stay open while the paint dries and it's done before school starts. A child's room usually takes us [one day], and the room is ready to sleep in that night.
A few things we've learned from painting a lot of kids' rooms. Let them choose the color, but bring home a sample first and paint a big swatch on the wall to look at for a few days. A scrubbable finish is worth it in a room that sees markers, sports gear and muddy shoes. And an accent wall or painted ceiling is a fun way to let them pick something bold without the whole room going loud.
Our August dates fill first. Reply "kids' room" with the room's size, and we'll send you a price and a day.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real kid's room your team painted, with no names or faces in the shot.

The one ask. Reply "kids' room" with the room's size.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Look up the school start date in your area.
- [ ] Set a simple price for a standard bedroom.
- [ ] Pick a kid's room photo with nothing personal in it.

8 August: a review, if we earned it

When to send it. Late August, as exterior season winds down. Send it to every customer from the past year, not only the ones you think were happy.

The fact behind it. Google's rules for reviews forbid offering incentives such as payment, discounts or free services for a review, and forbid asking only happy customers (Google Maps user contributed content policy, support.google.com).

- Subject line: Would you tell a neighbor how it went?
- Preview text: Two minutes on Google helps someone choose a painter.

Hi [first name],
Choosing a painter is hard. People in [town] search Google, look at photos and read what neighbors wrote. They want to know whether the crew showed up on time, kept the house clean and finished when they said.
If we painted for you this year, would you take two minutes to say how it went? Here's the link: [review link]
The details that help most are what we painted, how long it took, how the house looked at the end of each day and how it looks now. A photo helps even more, if you're happy to add one. Plain and honest beats polished. If something wasn't right, say that too. We read every review.
If you've already left one, thank you. You can ignore this email.
And thank you for letting us into your home for a few days. We know it's a lot to hand over.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real crew member doing the final walk-through with a roll of tape, with their permission.

The one ask. Leave a Google review.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Copy your review link from your Google Business Profile and test it on your phone.
- [ ] Send the email to every customer from the past 12 months.
- [ ] Reply to every new review within a day or two.

9 September: last exterior spots before the cold

When to send it. About six weeks before your last usual painting week in fall.

- Subject line: A few exterior spots left before the cold
- Preview text: Or be first in line next spring.

Hi [first name],
Exterior paint needs warm, dry days to go on and cure properly. Every can has a minimum temperature on the label, and nights get cold fast in [town] once fall arrives. That means our exterior season ends around [date].
We have [number] exterior spots left before then. If you've been meaning to get the trim, the front porch, the garage door or the whole house done, now is the time. Reply "fall" and we'll send you a time to come out and quote it.
If you'd rather wait, that's fine too. We can come out now, give you a price and put you first on our spring list, with your date locked in before the calendar opens to everyone else. You won't have to think about it again until we call you in [month].
One more small job worth doing before winter: front doors. A faded or peeling door gets new life in an afternoon, and it's what your holiday guests see first.
Reply "fall," "spring" or "door."
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real front porch or door your team painted this year, in fall light.

The one ask. Reply "fall" for a last exterior spot, or "spring" to be first next year.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Look up your first fall freeze date and the minimum temperature on the paint you use most.
- [ ] Count your real open exterior spots and fill in the number.
- [ ] Start a "first in spring" list for people who reply "spring."

Part 4

The holidays and winter

10 October: guest rooms before the holidays

When to send it. Early October, about six weeks before Thanksgiving.

- Subject line: Guests coming for the holidays? Book interiors by [date]
- Preview text: The guest room, the hallway and the rooms everyone sees.

Hi [first name],
If family is coming to stay this year, now is the time to book any painting you want done before they arrive. Our interior dates before Thanksgiving fill by [date], and December goes quickly after that.
The rooms people usually want done are the ones guests see. The guest bedroom that's been storage since the last visit. The hallway and stairway, scuffed from a year of backpacks and laundry baskets. The dining room. And the entryway, which sets the first impression the moment the door opens.
Most single rooms take us [one to two days]. We move the furniture, protect the floors, patch nail holes and dings, and put everything back when we're done. Interior paint dries fast, so the room is usable the same evening or the next day.
If you're not sure what color to choose, we can bring large samples to put up on the wall and look at in your own light.
Reply "holidays" with the rooms you're thinking about, and we'll send you a price and a date.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real guest room or hallway your team painted, with the bed made or the floor clear.

The one ask. Reply "holidays" with the rooms they want painted.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Count your real interior openings before Thanksgiving and fill in the date.
- [ ] Get a set of large sample boards for color visits.
- [ ] Send the email to past customers first.

11 November: the front door

When to send it. The first week of November.

- Subject line: The one-afternoon job your guests will notice first
- Preview text: A freshly painted front door, before the holidays.

Hi [first name],
Your front door is the first thing every holiday guest sees, and it takes more weather than any other door in the house. Sun fades it, rain and snow wear the bottom edge, and keys and hands scuff the area around the handle.

Painting a front door is one of the smallest jobs we do, and one of the biggest changes for the money. Most doors take us [an afternoon], and the door goes back to normal use the same day or the next, depending on the paint and the weather.
If you've always wanted a bolder color, a door is a safe place to try it. Deep blue, black, a rich green or a warm red can make the whole front of the house look sharper, without repainting anything else.
We can also do the trim around the door, the porch railing or the house numbers at the same visit.
We have [number] afternoons left before [date]. Reply "door" with a photo of yours, and we'll send you a price.
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real before-and-after of a front door your team painted, same angle both times.

The one ask. Reply "door" with a photo.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Set a flat price for a standard front door.
- [ ] Check the paint you use for doors and how soon it can close fully, and fill in the bracket.
- [ ] Count your real afternoons left and fill in the number.

12 December: thank you, and next year's colors

When to send it. The second week of December.

The fact behind it. InterNACHI's chart gives interior paint 10 to 15 years (InterNACHI, nachi.org).

- Subject line: Thank you, and a head start on next year
- Preview text: A January color visit, before the calendar fills.

Hi [first name],
Before the year ends, thank you. Every house we painted this year was someone trusting us with their home for a few days, and many of our new customers came from you mentioning our name.
Here's an idea for the quiet weeks ahead. If you're planning to paint anything next year, inside or out, January is the best time to decide the colors. There's no rush, and we can come out with large samples to put on your walls and look at in different light through the day.
InterNACHI, the home inspectors' association, gives interior paint 10 to 15 years. If your walls are past that, or the colors just feel tired, it's a good time to look.
A January color visit takes about [time]. We'll walk the rooms with you, put up samples and leave you a written estimate. Jobs booked from a January visit get first pick of our spring dates.
Reply "colors" and we'll send you a few dates to choose from.
Wishing you a warm and restful holiday,
[your name], [business], [phone]

Photo to add. A real set of large color samples taped to a wall in a customer's home.

The one ask. Reply "colors" to book a January color visit.

Do it in 24 hours

- [ ] Block out January days for color visits.
- [ ] Decide whether the color visit is free or comes off the job.
- [ ] Schedule this email for the second week of December.

or we can do it for you

Free sample: Your first newsletter, written

Written for this month's season in your town. Email newsletter is $50 a month, with a 7-day full refund.

Email newsletter: growthatlocal.com/services/email-newsletter

Your first 24 hours, in one list

You don't need all 12 today. Start with these:

- [ ] Put every past customer's email in one list in a simple email tool (section 1).
- [ ] Set up the footer with your business name, mailing address and unsubscribe link (before you start).
- [ ] Make your color record template and fill in last year's jobs (section 3).
- [ ] Copy your Google review link and test it on your phone (section 8).
- [ ] Pick next month's email, fill in the brackets and schedule it.

Where to go next

These emails come from The Painter Marketing Playbook, our free guide to getting more painting jobs. Section 13 covers color records, section 14 covers a year of emails, and section 15 covers the paint store counter and referral partners.

Want to know what your list is worth? What your past customers are worth each year shows the repeat and referral work a monthly email brings back. For the weather, The Painter Storm and Season Playbook plans the spring rush, heat, rain and the inside season.

If you'd rather hand it off

Grow That Local does this work for painters every month. Each service starts with a free sample, so you see the work before you pay.

Best fit for this guide: Email newsletter. Free sample: your first newsletter, written. Email newsletter is $50 a month, with a 7-day full refund.

Email newsletter — $50 a month · 7-day full refund
Stay top of mind, so past customers call you first. Free sample: your first newsletter, written.

Websites — from $1 a month · 7-day full refund
A fast, good-looking site that turns visitors into calls. Free sample: a preview of your new site.

Google Business Profile — $200 a month · 7-day full refund
Show up in the map when neighbors search for what you do. Free sample: a profile check-up with 10+ fixes.

Review requests — $100 a month · 7-day full refund
More 5-star reviews, without the awkward asking. Free sample: your first 10 requests sent.

Social media posts — $200 a month · 7-day full refund
Fresh posts every week, made from your real job photos. Free sample: two weeks of posts, ready to go.

SEO — $400 a month · 7-day full refund
Climb Google for the searches that bring in jobs. Free sample: a ranking check and 10 fixes.

Win-back texts — $100 a month · 7-day full refund
Bring past customers back for their next job. Free sample: your first 25 customers texted.

Neighborhood postcard — $400 a month · 7-day full refund
Your ad in mailboxes across nice neighborhoods. Free sample: your ad, designed and shown on the card.

Monthly report card — free
See how you stack up against local competitors. Free sample: your first report card, this month.

Text us at (423) 924-2014, or start at growthatlocal.com/start.

Sources

Every statistic above, with where to check it:

1. Litmus, 2025 State of Email survey (nearly 500 marketing leaders): 35% get $10 to $36 back for every $1 spent on email; a further 35% get more than $36. litmus.com (before you start)
2. FTC, CAN-SPAM Act: A Compliance Guide for Business: each separate email in violation can bring penalties of up to $53,088. ftc.gov (before you start)
3. InterNACHI Standard Estimated Life Expectancy Chart: exterior paint 7 to 10 years. nachi.org (section 2)
4. Same chart: wood stains 3 to 8 years. (section 4) (nachi.org)
5. Same chart: interior paint 10 to 15 years. (section 12) (nachi.org)

Rules and guidance cited (not statistics):

- FTC, CAN-SPAM Act: A Compliance Guide for Business (honest headers and subject lines, identify the message as an ad, a valid physical postal address, a working opt-out honored within 10 business days, no fee or extra information to opt out, responsibility when others send for you): ftc.gov (before you start)
- NOAA National Centers for Environmental Information, "When to Expect Your Last Spring Freeze" and "When to Expect Your First Fall Freeze" (1991 to 2020 US Climate Normals): ncei.noaa.gov and ncei.noaa.gov (before you start, section 9)
- EPA, Lead Renovation, Repair and Painting Program (covers homes built before 1978; anyone paid to disturb painted surfaces must be certified and use lead-safe work practices): epa.gov (section 5)
- Google Maps user contributed content policy (bans incentives for reviews and asking only for positive reviews): support.google.com (section 8)

GTL estimates

These are our own judgment, not measured facts:

1. Only email people who've hired you, asked for an estimate or asked to hear from you (before you start). Reasoning: people who don't know you are the ones who mark email as spam, and spam reports make inbox providers file your later emails as junk.
2. Send each season's email about six weeks before that season's work (sections 2, 7, 9, 10). Reasoning: estimates, color choices and booking take a few weeks, so the calendar fills only if you start early.
3. Two or more signs of failing paint is the point to get an estimate (section 2). Reasoning: one sign can be a single bad spot, but two usually mean the coating is breaking down across the house.
4. The water drop test shows whether deck stain is still working (section 4). Reasoning: sound stain sheds water, so drops bead; worn stain lets water soak into the wood and darken it.
5. Painting cabinet doors off site gives a cleaner finish (section 1). Reasoning: a shop has less dust and steadier temperatures than a working kitchen, and doors laid flat don't run.

want it done for you?

Every part of this guide is something we do.

Each one starts with a free sample, so you see the work before you pay. Text us at (423) 924-2014 or start at growthatlocal.com/start.

Grow That Local